

State's 'Gas' Tax Held To Blame in Part Today For Used Car Sales Dip

"Marginal Motorist" Discouraged, Pratt Says, by Constant Re-enactment of Emergency Taxes.

"DIRECT SLAP"
Truman Preston, of Syracuse, Testifies Tax is Direct Slap at Working Man.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—New York's emergency gasoline tax was blamed today by a witness before a legislative committee for part of the "stagnation" in the used car market.

Theodore D. Pratt, representing Empire State Automobile Dealers Association, one of a score of speakers protesting Governor Lehman's proposed retention of the fourth cent a gallon gasoline tax, made the assertion.

"Elimination of the emergency gasoline taxes would do more than any one thing to overcome the present slump in the used car market," he said.

"Automobile dealers in this state at the beginning of 1933 had an accumulation of approximately 100,000 used cars on hand," he said. "When the State of New York re-enacts its emergency taxes year after year, and when it assesses motorists $84,000,000 over and above the amount needed, or spent for highways, the marginal motorist is definitely discouraged from entering the used car market."

33 Clubs Represented
Witnesses who appeared before the Republican-controlled Assembly taxation committee represented the 33 clubs comprising the State Automobile Association, highway users, automobile dealers, filling station operators, farmers and leaders of civil organizations.

Governor Lehman has recommended retention of the emergency fourth cent a gallon impost to help finance his proposed $35,824,459 budget for 1938-39. It generally produces about $15,000,000 annually.

JUNK DEALER BUSY ON FALLEN NIAGARA BRIDGE
Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—A junk dealer and two helpers prepared today to talk out on Niagara gorge's rumbling ice jam and try to salvage 20 tons of copper wire from the wreckage of "Honeymoon Bridge." If they complete the hazardous task, they may attempt to cut the twisted bridge into three sections to keep it from clogging the river.

Costs Shared
"In many cases working people share the cost of a low-priced second-hand car and share its operating expenses," he asserted. "These, and not the owners of the chauffeur-driven cars, are the people who want the tax rate to be low and who want the revenue to be spent on roads."

John J. McInerney, president of the Rochester Automobile Club, said that "the people will demand" that the constitutional convention, which convenes in April propose an amendment designed to prevent diversion of gasoline and motor vehicle taxes for purposes other than for highway maintenance.

"Year after year representatives of the 2,500,000 motorists of the state have inveighed against the injustice of gasoline taxes collected under guise of an emergency," he said, "but have found the legislators and executives deaf to their protests and entreaty and are now prepared to take their cause before the constitutional convention."

"New York state is now inviting millions of people of the whole world to attend the world's fair (New York City, 1939) and yet is lacking in substantial roads as a proper means of causing those millions to see the historic and beautiful Empire State."

Little Hope of Elimination
Both Republican and Democratic legislative leaders, however, agreed privately there is little hope of eliminating the additional penny-a-gallon levy the coming year.

Slight opposition among legislators is expected, as in recent years, but not sufficient to prevent its re-enactment.

Meanwhile, a legislative committee drafted legislation which its chairman, Assemblyman Harold E. Ehrlich, said is designed to prevent losses of "millions of dollars" in uncollected state taxes and at the same time "protect the gasoline consumer."

The committee has been investigating the state's petroleum industry the past two years.

Ehrlich said the legislation would propose:

Creation of a state agency for collection of all taxes, including revenues from sales of gasoline, from income and corporate franchise taxes.

Establishment of a bureau within the State Police to enforce collection and a second bureau in the office of the Attorney General to prosecute tax evaders.

Grading of all gasoline to obtain uniformity in three grades, prevent adulteration and alleged "bleeding."

Posting of gasoline prices and tax on every pump to eliminate "double-charging."

Hospitals Object To C.I.O. Measure On 8-Hour Day

The hospitals of the State are opposed to C.I.O. sponsored bill introduced in the Assembly last week which calls for a mandatory eight-hour day for hospital employees.

They declare that: "This is an attempt to apply standard industrial regulations to hospital operations. The application is not practicable, and it is not fair. Hospital operations are controlled by human needs and not by production schedules. You can't apply the same rules to the operation of a hospital as you would apply to a shoe factory."

"For a great many of the hospitals in New York State, a straight eight-hour day for employees would mean a salary cut, or an increase in rates—or both. Hospitals are public institutions—not profit making enterprises. Hospital employees are paid little enough for the work they do; nothing should be done to decrease their pay. An increase in rates, generally, would decrease use of our hospitals, and lead many of our institutions into financial disaster."

"All hospitals in the State association favor the principal of the eight-hour day, and are working earnestly towards the point where it can be adopted generally without destroying hospital routine and imposing an unbearable financial strain."

Legislators throughout the State have been hearing from hospital officials since Assemblyman Crews, of Brooklyn, introduced the bill last week, the request of the Association of Hospital and Medical Employees, No. 413, C.I.O.

Leaders in the State Hospital Association say that imposition of the eight-hour day at this time would be not only a financial blow to most of the hospitals in upstate New York, but in many instances would force a decrease in the high standards of service maintained by many small, meagerly endowed institutions which are hard pressed to meet current expenses.

Nobody Knows

New York, Feb. 2 (AP)—A man who never was arrested, so far as anybody but himself could tell, spent a night in jail, furnished $100 bail and appeared in magistrate's court on a vagrancy charge, as police rounded up 1,147 suspected criminals. Ramon Maroles, the prisoner, appeared to plead to a complaint signed by Detective Harry Wolf. To the magistrate's amazement, Wolf denied arresting the man. No one could be found who knew anything about the case. Maroles himself didn't know and the charge was dismissed.

Neither Have Job

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—Two of New York State's first recipients of unemployment insurance benefits would rather have a job. The pair, James D. Lennon who received $15 and Mrs. Katherine Mahar who received $8.54, said they would like, more than anything else, a chance to "work at a gainful occupation."

Von Blomberg Resigns

Berlin, Feb. 2 (AP)—Marshal Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, handed his resignation to Reichsfuehrer Hitler before going to Capri on his honeymoon, a highly reliable informant disclosed today.

There had been indications the officers' corps of the army was not pleased by marriage of the 59-year-old marshal to Erika Grohn on January 12, and this was followed by the reports he would relinquish his post.

Hitler and Von Blomberg conferred at the war ministry on January 21. The Fuehrer was seen to enter with great excitement, and later emerged appearing pale and grave. Soon thereafter the war marshal left for his honeymoon.

An official announcement will not be made before the end of the week, and may be delayed longer. It will be coupled, a most authoritative informant indicated, with publication of a scheme for conduct of military affairs in the future.

Von Blomberg retains the title of Field Marshal, there being no retirement for that rank. Field Marshals remain active for life.

Last of 3 Escaped Hospital Inmates Back Voluntarily

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—Ansel Bates, 40, of Washington Falls, N. Y., last "to" be apprehended of three patients who fled the Hudson River State Hospital for the Insane here January 25, returned voluntarily to the institution today.

Dr. Ralph P. Folsom, hospital superintendent, said Bates was accompanied by a brother, Alfred, who brought him from Trenton, N. J. Dr. Folsom quoted Alfred Bates as saying his brother had made his way to Chestertown, Md., where he communicated with a sister. She took him to Trenton, where they were met by Alfred Bates.

Dr. Folsom said he was studying a statement made by Alfred Bates, which indicated that his brother had been guilty of "no anti-social behavior" during his absence from the hospital.

Two other inmates who escaped at the same time, Kenneth Pritchard, 28, of Arlington, N. Y., and Joseph Gavan, 35, of Fort Edward, N. Y., were recaptured within 48 hours. Pritchard at Hudson, N. Y., and Gavan at Schenectady.

Dr. Folsom said Pritchard admitted that he found keys, apparently accidentally dropped on the lawn by a guard, unlocked a second story dormitory door and fled with his two companions down a fire escape.

District Attorney John R. Schwartz, after questioning Pritchard concerning two automobile thefts, a restaurant holdup and an attack on a woman the night of the escape, said these crimes would be investigated by the Dutchess county grand jury now in session.

Badly Battered "Beemoth" Arrested on Charge of Intoxicated Driving

That it does not pay to put up a fight with a policeman is the fact that was impressed forcibly on a man, arrested about 2:30 o'clock this morning on Main street on a charge of operating a LaSalle coupe bearing the license number 1A-2800-N.Y. while intoxicated.

The man was lodged in the county jail badly battered and was examined by Dr. Frederick Snyder, police surgeon, about noon today. It was planned to arraign the man, who gave the name of Frank Dorsey, at the sheriff's office, this afternoon in police court.

Riding with him was a young woman who gave her name as Ethel Ackerman, 23, of New York City, who said that for the past two weeks she had been employed as a waitress at the Schoenitz Hotel on the Saucieries road. She is under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Message to Police

It was about 2:30 o'clock this morning when the police department sent out a message over the radio that a man and a woman were riding around in an automobile and that the man, who was driving, was apparently intoxicated.

The call was picked up by Officers Brophy and Kinch in one of the radio cars. They found the car they were searching for on Main street, just off Clinton avenue, and halted it and told the man he was under arrest.

The Fun Begins

Then, according to the police officers, the fun started for the man put up an argument. It is claimed that he used not only his fists but his feet as well, and it finally took the combined efforts of Officer Brophy and Kinch and Officer Fallon, who arrived on the scene, to get the man into the radio car and take him to police headquarters.

Fight at Hospital

The man by this time had been pretty well banged up in the argument that followed his alleged refusal to enter the police car. He was taken over to the Kingston Hospital, and, according to the police, put up another fight there and refused to allow a physician to attend him.

Back in police headquarters the man again put up an argument and in the argument Officer Rorced was kicked in the groin. The man was finally subdued with the aid of Officer Harry Martin and the other three officers, Brophy, Kinch and Fallon.

Evelyn S. Dorsey's Car

The license number on the car was sent into Albany for checking and a teletype message was received stating that the LaSalle coupe was licensed in the name of Evelyn S. Dorsey of Loudonville.

On the back seat of the car was found another set of license plates which had been issued, according to the teletype message, to the Mack International Motor Co., the concern that sold the city its new fire truck.

It had been decided to arraign the man in police court at 2 o'clock this afternoon and short-

$140,000 Bond Issue Gets Approval of Aldermen; to Care for 1938 Relief in City

"Little Fellows" Protest Practices Of Large Concerns

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—Small business men, here by the hundreds for President Roosevelt's conference of "little fellows," voiced protests today against what they termed unfair trade practices by some large concerns.

Representatives of retail merchants from all parts of the country went to the first session of the conference expressing determination to demand action against various types of chain store organizations.

Some said they were interested in getting taxes imposed on chain corporations. Others sought conference approval of varied types of restrictions on their big competitors.

Many said they believed these demands might figure in President Roosevelt's efforts to end monopolies and business "abuses."

The business men will continue their "town meeting" with commerce department officials until tomorrow afternoon. Then a dozen of them will report to Mr. Roosevelt what they and their colleagues think should be done to improve and stabilize business.

Group discussions in and out of conference halls, ranging from calm appraisals to torrid arguments, indicated there would be no lack of suggestions.

Federal Loans Proposal

A proposal for federal loans to small concerns probably will head the list. Letters which business men have written the President indicate a tight credit situation is one of their chief worries.

Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference yesterday that the question of credit was reopened.

At the same time the President disclosed that aid for another big section of business—the railroad business—was under consideration. He said Walter M. W. Splawn, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, had suggested a White House conference on ways to help the railroads and was arranging with rail officials and others to attend.

The President also gave further attention to the problems of the automobile industry. Representatives of the United Automobile Workers asked a $150,000 appropriation for unemployment relief in Michigan and reported that the President had agreed to take up the matter with the Works Progress Administration.

In the general relief field, WPA officials disclosed they had decided to expand their rolls to approximately 2,000,000 in February. They hoped that business improvement in the spring and summer would permit curtailment to 1,500,000 by June and thus offset the temporary expansion. Enrollment reached 1,821,989 in late January.

The small business men at today's conference were from stores and factories, men who only yesterday took off their grocery aprons and drug store jackets, and men who usually wear the overalls of cattle raisers.

"Little Fellow" Defined

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—What is a small business man?

An unofficial definition by administration spokesmen termed him a man doing a gross business of less than $1,000,000 a year and having fewer than 500 employees.

Scores of those attending President Roosevelt's conference of small business men, however, were far below that top limit. They included merchants, bakers, laundrymen, beauty shop operators, manufacturers and garage men.

Mayor O. C. Renshaw, of Vermont, Ill., declared he was the "smallest business man" here. He runs a general store in a town of 1,200.

Mt. Marion Man Drops Dead Today In Local Shoe Shop

Seized with a heart attack while seated in the shoemaking shop of Benjamin Aduchelsky at 50 North Front street at about 8:15 o'clock this morning, Thomas Martin of Mt. Marion, about 50 years of age, died before medical aid could be summoned.

Mr. Martin, a painter by trade, had stopped in at the Aduchelsky shop to await the opening of the I. Shapiro paint store across the street. While talking with Mr. Aduchelsky he was seized with an attack and died.

Mr. Aduchelsky went next door to the Kantrowitz Brothers store and Leo Aduchelsky, a clerk in the store, attempted to get in touch with a doctor. Unable to locate a physician he called police headquarters and Officer Harry Martin was sent to the scene along with Officers William Rodell and Leonard Relyea.

Coroner Summoned

When the officers arrived they found Mr. Martin dead and Coroner Lester Dufoss of New Paltz was called. Meanwhile the Conner Ambulance Service had been called but on arrival it was found Mr. Martin had expired before a physician being in attendance and the arrival of the coroner was awaited.

Coroner Dufoss after an examination gave heart failure as the cause of death and the body was taken in charge by Norman R. Lasher of Saugerties and relatives of the deceased were notified.

Council Unanimous in Action to Care for Kingston's Unemployed—City Accountant Post Attacked

The Common Council unanimously authorized the issuance of $110,000 in bonds to cover the city's share of the cost of caring for those on work and home relief in Kingston during the present year at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the city hall. The meeting was also marked by an attack on the mayor and Republican members of the council by Minority Leader Walter Donnarumma, who accused them of attempting to create a job for Max Rehen, who Donnarumma accused of not having dealt fairly with the merchants downtown in distributing the purchases for the WPA for the city.

Mayor Heiselman sent in three communications which gave the council a word picture of the relief situation in Kingston as it is today, urging the council to approve authorization of the proposed bond issue, $60,000 of which will be used for home relief and $80,000 for work relief during 1938. The communications from the mayor will be found elsewhere in The Freeman.

Groundhog Myth Losing "Face"; He Gets Final Chance

New York, Feb. 2 (AP)—A three-year-old groundhog that has spent the winter in a steam-heated room will be put outdoors today to give the metropolis its forecast on spring and, incidentally, to test the groundhog legend. Most of the city's zoologists scoff at the legend. Neither the Bronx Zoo nor the Central Park Zoo is conducting the forecast experiment this year and the Prospect Park Zoo doesn't have a groundhog.

Even the Boy Scouts of Nature Study Troop 472, who have made the test since 1927, have abandoned it. "Too much baloney," said the scoutmaster.

So, the responsibility—and probably the blame—for the forecast falls on the woodchuck which has been hibernating with the Staten Island Zoological Society.

Odds are the sleepy-headed animal will be kept frozen before he gets back to his radiator.

Seer Sees Shadow, Bolt

Gobbler's Knob, Pennsylvania, Pa. Feb. 2 (AP)—The seer of Gobbler's Knob, made his 41st annual appearance today, felt the nip of cold air on his nose and colder snow on his toes, and retreated to the comfort of his burrow in these western Pennsylvania hills. Its saw his shadow and that, say followers of the Gobbler's Knob groundhog, means six more weeks of winter.

Across the state, where the members of the Slumbering Lodge of Quarryville continued their ritual through the day, the claim of the Gobbler's Knob seer to the title "nation's weather-works" is disputed.

At the crack of dawn the "faithful" of the Quarryville Lodge gathered in traditional garb at the hole of their "official" woodchuck—labeled "pretender" by supporters of Gobbler's Knob seer.

Eden Calls "Sub" Session

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden summoned the French and Italian ambassadors to conference today to draft emergency measures to rid the Mediterranean of the recurrent submarine menace to merchant shipping.

The menace grew from the Spanish civil war, and resulted last fall in the Nyon accord delegating Britain and France, later Italy, to patrol the sea and to sink any attacking craft.

Today's consultation was the direct result of sinking of the British freighter Endymion with loss of ten lives, off the southwestern Spanish coast on Sunday.

The Spanish government charged that the submarine was Italian with a "dual" personality—Italian while on patrol duties in the Mediterranean but actually aiding Spanish insurgents in their attempt to blockade Spanish government ports.

Eden awaited further official information on the identification, but it was understood he had mentioned the matter to Italy's ambassador, Count Dino Grandi, yesterday.

The discussion, however, was informal, and thus far there was no indication the allegation would be made a subject of formal exchange between Britain and Italy.

Rome officials observed that Spanish government charges the insurgents had six Italian warships "were not addressed to us and hence we have no reply to make."

Britain already has acted on the Endymion sinking, dispatching four destroyers with depth bombs to search for the submarine and English newspaper demands for destruction of "the mad dogs." Four others were heading into the area from Gibraltar.

While Eden mapped new measures to end what Britain regards as renewed piracy on the high seas, France's Premier Camille Chautemps took the lead in an appeal against Spanish "air vendettas"—aerial bombardment of cities—which have cost the lives of hundreds of Spanish civilians.

A French government spokesman said Chautemps was confident other world powers would unite in urging Spanish governments and the Barcelona government to agree to end the attacks.

The Barcelona government last week announced it was ready to halt raids of open cities, if insurgents did likewise.

Mayor Says City 1938 Relief Needs $140,000

Declaring that an emergency still exists in Kingston on account of unemployment, Mayor C. J. Heiselman sent in two communications to the Common Council Tuesday evening requesting the council to authorize a bond issue of $140,000, of which amount $60,000 was to be used for home relief and $80,000 for work relief in the city during 1938.

The mayor's communication regarding home relief in Kingston follows:

January 28, 1938.
To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Kingston, New York:

Gentlemen:
In the 1938 budget the sum of $125,000.00 was appropriated for home relief, $65,000.00 to be raised by tax levy, and $60,000.00 to be raised by bond issue. As of this date, 534 families, or 2,296 persons, are being cared for on home relief. These cases are in the following classifications:

Families	Persons
Permanently unemployed...	119
Temporarily unemployed...	268
Supplemental aid to WPA employees...	94
Supplemental aid to NYA employees...	2
Supplemental aid to ADC families...	1
Supplemental aid to CCC families...	3
Supplemental aid to private industrial employees...	47
Total	534

The following table shows how many families were on home relief on January 28th, 1936, and 1937, as compared to 1938:

Families	Persons
1936	535
1937	498
1938	534

The lowest home relief case load since the emergency occurred was on July 16, 1937, when 182 families were on home relief. Since October 1st, this load has increased weekly. Since November 1st, 62 families, qualified for relief who had never before found it necessary to apply for public aid. The remaining 480 families have been on relief before. The unemployed have been receiving relief steadily, others are back on relief after seasonal employment, or because of loss of employment due to the new depression.

These facts indicate, and I hereby declare, that an emergency still exists in this city on account of unemployment.

I recommend that your honorable body appropriate for home relief the sum of $60,000.00 for the purpose of providing food, clothing, shelter, fuel, medical attention and other necessities of life to those in distress and that you authorize the issuance of $60,000.00 in bonds for the purpose of raising funds covering the appropriation recommended herein.

Bond maturities should be so fixed as to distribute maturities over a ten-year period as required by law.

Yours truly,
C. J. HEISELMAN, Mayor

Work Relief Needs
Mayor Heiselman's communication in regard to work relief follows:

January 29, 1938
To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Kingston, New York:

Gentlemen:
The Works Progress Administration has been operating in this city by the Federal government since December 1, 1935. The working pay rolls and a small proportion of the materials have been furnished by the Federal government, and the city has furnished most of the materials, practically all of the equipment, and all tools, supplies and engineering services.

During 1936, the city was required to contribute from 25 per cent to 30 per cent of the total cost of WPA projects. During 1937, the WPA withdrew a large part of their material contributions. This required the city to purchase most of the materials, thereby increasing the cost of the city's share.

During 1937, the WPA program was responsible for the construction of 29,514 lin. ft. of storm and sanitary sewers, 8 streets were graded and resurfaced, 8 streets were reconstructed and paved, curbs and sidewalks were relaid in various streets, retaining walls were built on 2 school properties, 2 new parks were improved, a municipal garage was built, various improvements were made to public buildings, 10,715 lin. ft. of new water mains were installed and old mains replaced, materials were supplied to the sewing bureau and to National Youth Administration work projects. In addition, plans for WPA projects have been prepared, lines and grades have been given in the field to all working projects, and some degree of engineering supervision has been exercised over these projects.

I have stated before, and hereby reiterate, that in my opinion, which is borne out by others, a work program more productive and generally superior would result if management control and supervision were placed in the hands of local governmental authorities. The WPA work relief program has been severely handicapped by a number of defects, the principal one being the multiplicity of constantly changing rules and regulations emanating from the remote control point in Washington, many of them making for confusion, delay and waste.

The local and state WPA administrations have done their best, however, to operate under these difficult conditions and have cooperated with my administration in the task of providing work of a constructive nature for the unemployed. We, in turn, have cooperated fully with the local and state officials of the WPA to facilitate the program in an attempt to obtain for Kingston public works of a permanent value to our community.

During 1938, it is planned to continue the work program along the same general lines as heretofore, but, if necessary to stay within the appropriation requested herein, to select projects requiring lower expenditures for materials, which will provide work for as many men but at a lower cost to the city. Projects which have been started must, of course, be finished.

At the present time, 621 persons are employed on local WPA projects. It is expected that this number soon will be substantially increased by a transfer to WPA of the 268 employables now receiving home relief. This indicates, and I hereby declare, that an emergency still exists in this city on account of unemployment.

In submitting projects for WPA approval, it is now necessary for the city to agree to finish any projects left unfinished by the WPA, and to pay the wages of skilled labor should such labor not be available from local relief rolls. This makes it impossible to estimate accurately the amount which might be required under certain circumstances for WPA purposes during the year 1938.

I recommend that your honorable body appropriate the sum of $80,000.00 for the purpose of furnishing labor, materials, supplies, equipment and incidental expenses as the city's share of the cost of operating WPA projects undertaken, or hereafter to be undertaken, to provide employment for the city's unemployed.

Approximately $20,000.00 of last year's WPA appropriation remained unspent on January 1st, and is available for 1938. When this is added to the $60,000.00 recommended herein, it will make a total of $80,000.00 available for WPA purposes during 1938.

I also recommend that you authorize the issuance of bonds in the sum of $80,000.00 for the purpose of raising funds to cover the appropriation recommended herein. Bond maturities should be so fixed as to distribute payment of bonds over a ten year period, as required by law.

Yours truly,
C. J. HEISELMAN, Mayor

25 Years of Police Service Reveals Changes to 2 'Bills'

Policemen William Hess and William J. Reardon on February 1, celebrated their 25th year as members of the Kingston police department, and Thursday noon they will be the guests of honor at the Kiwanis-Police dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel when they will be presented with handsome silver rings by the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, of which they are members.

During the quarter of a century that they have served on the police force, both men have made excellent records and there are no other officers who are held in higher esteem by their fellow members of the police department.

Officer "Bill" Reardon when a boy was employed to drive the delivery wagon of the Van Buren grocery store on lower Broadway. They tell the story that the horse that Bill drove was apt to mope along the route and Bill, kind-hearted as ever, did not like to use a whip on his steed and evolved a plan of carrying a long length of chain in the delivery wagon. When the horse started to mope long Bill would rattle the chain. The rattling of the links proved as efficient as the use of a whip, and as a result Bill always covered his route on time.

Later in life he embarked in the candy business as a candy maker employed in the Derrenbacher candy plant at the end of lower Hasbrouck avenue. Here he learned how to make delicious candy, and his friends say he has not lost the knack to this day. Still later he opened a confectionery store on lower Broadway, at the head of Rogers street.

Bill Reardon, then as now, numbered his friends by the hundreds and his confectionery store always did a thriving business. Back in the good old days Bill was a handy mixer of ice cream sodas and the young folks would come considerable distances just to taste and enjoy one of his chocolate sodas.

Finally Bill decided that he wanted to become a policeman and took the civil service examination, passing high on the list. Here we will drop one Bill for the time being and take up the other Bill—Officer Hess. A quarter of a century ago Bill Hess was a conductor on the local trolley road. In those early days as well as today Bill was noted for his unflinching courtesy and his good nature. As a conductor on the trolley road he became widely and favorably known. Bill always had the record of keeping his eyes open and never a patron was left standing on a corner when a trolley car was in charge of Officer Hess.

Finally Bill Hess decided that he was tired of being a conductor and his eyes turned to another uniform, also of blue, that of a policeman. He also took the civil service examination and passed high on the list.

Then when the time came when there were vacancies on the police force Mayor Roscoe Irwin and his police board picked on the two Bills as ideal men to carry on the traditions of the police force. That they made no mistake in their choice is shown by the unblemished records of both officers.

Both Bills can look back today over 25 years of efficient police service. In those years they have seen many changes both in the personnel of the force and also in the steps taken to make the department both modern and up to date. They served in the years when the horse and buggy created the traffic problems of the day and they have lived to see the horse and buggy practically disappear from the streets, replaced by the automobile.

Officer Hess has seen the trolley car disappear from the scene to be replaced by the modern bus lines of today. The youngsters of today who well under 10 years of age will never have the joy of recalling the rides they had on the trolley cars. The only trolley cars they have seen is when they were out on an auto ride down 5-W and saw the old trolley cars adorn the hills this side of Golden Rule Inn on the George Proprietor farm.

Since they became members of the force the two officers have seen the police signal system installed, the department motorized and the radio system installed. They recall the days of the old horse-drawn Black Maria, and they recall the days of the motorized prowl cars and the ambulance service that for years was maintained by the police department.

A quarter of a century is a long space of time in the human life, and the two Bills can look back today on a service of integrity with high standards of duty and efficiency that they have rendered.

INDUSTRIES AND RELIEF

Announcement of the location of a new industry in this city and the tentative plans to bring a second new substantial factory
 here carries with it great significance, when one considers the request to the Common Council for authorization of a bond issue of $140,000 for home relief and work relief in the city during this year.

In his request for $50,000 to be used for home relief and $50,000 for work relief, Mayor
 Hefselman declares that an emergency exists in this city on account of unemployment. In his message to the aldermen, the mayor stated that a total of 5,129 persons, or 13 per cent of the population of the city received relief in some form from the city during January. The $140,000 request is in addition to $214,503.50, which was included in the current budget for all forms of welfare and relief, including maturing
 bonds, and which will be paid from 1933 taxes. The $50,000
 home relief will be for the purpose of providing food, clothing,
 shelter, fuel, medical attention
 and other necessities of life to those in distress. The $50,000
 work relief will be for labor, materials, supplies, equipment and incidental expenses as the city's share of the cost of WPA projects,
 to provide employment for the city's unemployed.

It is hoped that these huge expenditures for home and work relief will not be continued indefinitely and the best assurance against their permanency is the establishing of industries here that will give employment to local residents. It will also be well to keep in mind that the industries
 that have been here and will continue to be here should be given every consideration. Whole-hearted cooperation with local business, manufacturer and retailer, and a everlasting campaign to patronize these local businesses, should be the first thought in mind.

EAGER AMERICANS

There was a period, not so many years ago, when lecturers were telling Americans to "live dangerously." That is, to be adventurous, not staid—to take life hard, not easy.

Apparently their advice was followed. Or more likely, typical Americans didn't need it. Anyway, a philosophic Hindu from British India now finds this a fearsome country. He has traveled over the world, and in many cities, eastern and western, has been accustomed to walking about at night without fear. But he doesn't take nocturnal strolls
 through the dark and devious streets of American cities, he says. They are dangerous.

"In foreign cities men are robbed, but not kidnapped, slugged
 and murdered as they are here."
 He gives an interesting explanation of both the slayers and the slain. "It is because Americans are so eager," he says, "and have no fear of death."

ALL HANDS NEEDED

Shortening the hours per week
 to pass the work around is not a cure for unemployment, but only an emergency makeshift.
 Many people seem to assume that the work now divided up, as it is, is so much rationed food, is all the work there is and all there is going to be. But that is a counsel of despair. In a flexible economic system, such as ours is supposed to be, it can not be true.
 The amount of work grows with the consuming power of the people. The system is double-barreled. More work makes more goods to sell and more goods
 made work for more people.

How much more could be used
 if people had money to buy?
 There is an incredible deficit of goods today, as a result of long privation. The Brookings Institution estimates that to raise our living standards again as high as they were in 1929, we would have to produce every year for five years $33,000,000,000 worth of "durable goods" alone—substanc-
 ial and lasting things like homes, factories, machinery, etc.—not to mention the vast quantities of consumers' goods like food, clothing and other perishable things.
 That would be 60 per cent more
 of such goods than we produced in 1929.

"There can be no doubt," says Dr. Harold G. Moulton, "that the workers required to restore living standards during the next five years are more than sufficient to absorb the entire volume of unemployment now existing." If that is the case, we should soon have millions doing a full week's work again—and liking it. Such good fortune awaits harmonious co-operation among business, government and labor.

WHY SOME HAVE MORE COLDS

You have friends or acquaintances who seem to have colds
 very often and others who seldom have a cold; yet as far as you can see, the ones with colds seem to be just as robust and healthy as the ones who seldom if ever have a cold.

Research physicians are now of the opinion that some individuals are susceptible, or more likely to have, colds than others and so the reason for this is being sought.

Dr. L. G. Spiesman and L.
 Arnold, Chicago, in the American Journal of Digestive and Nutrition, tell of their experiments with, and observations of, 62
 patients over a period of three years. These cases were selected from outdoor clinic patients after having been treated by various methods for a long time previously. The patients chosen for the study, after a thorough examination including X-ray of sinuses and chest, were found to have no defect of the nose, throat or sinuses. There was thus no underlying cause for the colds.

"These physicians report that
 'the individual suffering with repeated colds' began in October and April was found to have an altered action or condition of lining (mucous membrane) of the nose and throat when heat or cold were applied to the skin. When their skin is chilled there is a slow gradual closing (or tightening) of the little blood vessels in the mucous membrane of the nose and throat which lasts for some several minutes to two hours. This means that the little blood vessels in the lining of the nose and throat are not adjusted properly to the needs or protection of the body. You can understand that if these little vessels close up and do not supply the necessary blood to the tissues,
 for any length of time, the organisms that cause colds and other ailments get a good chance to cause trouble. And, unfortunately, these organisms are in the nose all the time anyway, ready as it were to attack when they find this protective lining of the nose unfit to fight them off."

How can colds be prevented?
 Drs. Spiesman and Arnold tell us that by the use of hot and cold applications (hydrotherapy) and cutting down on certain foods—wheat breads, pastry, pies and cookies—not only were the number of colds reduced in these patients but when the colds did occur, they did not last so long.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: Two ships are anchored in tropical Balingong bay;
 one a fortified gun-runner, the Linkang, and Christine Forrester's Avon. Sumatran island is seething with a Dyak revolt against the Malays, but my uncle, James Clyde, and myself (Paul Thorne) manage to reach Christine's besieged client, Rajah Mantusen. We learn too late that Christine is supplying the Dyak guns, and Mantusen blames us. Talking against death,
 Clyde finally gains a concession.
 While he is held hostage, I am to bring the Linkang up-river.

Chapter 14

"These Dyaks Can Shoot!"
 CHRISTINE was wearing white flannel slacks such as a yachtm-
 an or the master of a passenger vessel might wear, and a white silk blouse pinned at the throat with a silver buckle. Some part of my confused brain observed that the working of the silver buckle was that of Indo-China. She looked very cool and clean as she sat down
 now in one of our weather-moulded chairs. I supposed she should have made me aware that I was unshaved, nearly shirtless,
 and covered with as much jungle dirt as would stick, but I did not care anything about all that; none of it even then came to my mind.

"Why didn't you tell us?" I said.
 A little color had returned to her face, but she was still unsteady, as if greatly shaken.

"How was I to know what you were going to do?" In the palm of her hand, tied to her wrist by a thong, was some sort of bangle;
 and her fingers kept working over the edges of it, playing upon it as if it had keys. "How was I to know Clyde didn't understand his own business? For years and years I've heard of this famous James Clyde,
 who knew how to take care of himself in these waters better than anybody else on earth. Whatever could have been in his mind, to go pushing up a blockaded river with—"

"Why didn't you tell us you were running guns to the Dyaks?" I insisted.

She said, "Sit down."
 I hesitated and then kicked an empty ammunition case near her chair.

"Closer," she said, and I moved closer.

"Why didn't your brother come here?" I demanded. "We're in a hell of a hole—I have no time to waste saying a lot of things that I'll only have to repeat to somebody else. Who's supposed to be in authority on your yawl, anyway?"

She made a single quick motion of head and hands. "My brother is down with fever; they're holding him in his bunk. Captain Stocker can barely stand. If you have anything to say to anyone, you may as well say it to me."

"So you've taken over," I said
 with hefty sarcasm.

"I'm trying to go on with things
 my father began." I thought again of the scholarly
 ascetic face of Anthony Forrester,
 in the steel engraving. "I suppose it was your father's plan to run contraband arms to the head-hunters," I said savagely, "and raise more pure hell than's been seen around here yet?"

She said wearily, "Perhaps."

"What Are You Up To?"
 I SUPPOSE you think," I rushed on, "that the Dyaks are going to loot Mantusen and then you're going to swindle the Dyaks. Well, I'll tell you something about that.
 The Dyaks will never take one penny's worth of loot from Mantusen. If it comes to a finish, the Malays will smash up everything
 they have, and kill their wives and their slaves, and then rush off fighting furiously. That's another thing your father should have known, and you too. Your damn fool get-rich-quick scheme
 has accomplished only one thing—
 it has probably cost the life of James Clyde."

"Mr. Thorne," she said faintly,
 "I swear to you, I would have stopped him if I had known. But he seemed so sure of what he was doing—"

"We knew you were running guns," I said. "And we could see that you were doing business, but not anything about it. But naturally we didn't suppose you were turning the jungle upside down to no profit at all. The first we knew about it was when Mantusen showed us one of the Dyak guns."

"And Clyde walked straight into Mantusen's arms!" the girl said.
 "I can't believe it, even yet."

"It was a trap because you made it a trap, then it was a trap. Now
 I want to know what the hell
 people are up to here—and I need to know quick."

She sat motionless, leaning back in the canvas chair where James Clyde should rightly have been.
 Over her head our ragged strip
 of awning was marbled by rippling reflections from the sun-struck
 water, and that same uneasy, restless light was moving across her face, accenting her quiet.

"I tell you, I didn't know Clyde was going into the river. He said

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK.—Practically everyone has a favorite restaurant,
 yet few are so wholly monopolized by great names of the theater
 as Ralph's Place, a small cafe in West 45th street, where every other door is a house of drama.

Here most of the actors and actresses on Broadway congregate
 after midnight or snatch hasty
 meals between performances.
 Ralph knows them all, intimately and well. He knows their middle names, the names of their children,
 and the color of their neckties. Yet,
 it is surprisingly inexpensive, no more costly than a thousand other restaurants scattered throughout the city.

THERE are various reasons for Ralph's success in the restaurant trade. He knows Broadway.
 He has been a part of it for 25 years. Then, too, his food is always excellent. But more important than this, suspect, is his great tolerance and his willingness always to give sympathetic attention to one and all.

There are frequenters of his house of food who are now great names in the arts. They spend their money lavishly now, but perhaps a few short months ago,
 they were eating on the cuff.
 Ralph never turns an actor away unless—or anyone else. They come into his place and eat on the cuff.
 When they get out, Hard Times Creek they come pay the bill and then, showing their gratitude, continue as his guests.

There is one actress on Broadway, a talented creature, whose luck only recently has turned towards the better. For eight months
 she was out of employment, yet
 Ralph urged her to make his cafe
 her home and she dined there for

Stamps IN THE NEWS

By James B. Hatcher

One of the great rarities of philately, a Swedish error, changed hands in a London auction room recently for about $25,000. It is the 3 skilling-banco of 1855, printed in yellow instead of green. Only one is known.

In 1885 a schoolboy was sorting a lot of old Swedish stamps his grandmother had given him when he found this odd one. They say he sold it for $2.

Later a Vienna dealer sold it on commission to the famous Ferrari for $1,500. When France broke up and auctioned Ferrari's superlative collection in 1922, the 3 skilling-banco yellow was knocked down to Baron Leijonhufvud for $2,500. Four years later it was resold for $6,000, and in 1928 Dr. Ramberg, a Swedish collector, bought it for $10,000.

The new owner is a European collector whom the London St. auctioneers declined to name.

Experts believe the error happened when the printers put a cliché of the 3 skilling-banco in a plate of the 8 skilling-banco, for the shade is the same. Possibly the slip occurred towards the end of the 1857 printing and only a few sheets with the error went to press.

The price, $25,000 is the second highest ever paid for a single stamp. The late Arthur Hind of Ulster paid about $26,700 for the 1855 one-cent orange British Guiana at the Ferrari sale, and this is still tops, though his widow is said to have turned down a $10,000 offer. The Post Office Mauritius which sold for around $20,000 used to be the second highest priced stamp.

Honoring Swedenborg

Sweden's next postal issue will be a two-stamp set commemorating the 250th anniversary of the birth of Emanuel Swedenborg, scientist, philosopher and founder of Swedenborgian theology.

There will be a 10-ore and a 3-krona, both in coils, no watermark. The 10-ore will be issued also in booklet (perf. 13). The Swedish postoffice plans to put them on sale January 29, Swedenborg's birthday.

Artist Torsten Schonberg did the design after a portrait of Swedenborg by Per Krafft the Elder, an 18th century Swedish painter.

Swedenborg was a versatile genius who wrote treatises on applied algebra and contributed to the knowledge of his day about mineralogy, metallurgy, physics, anatomy, physiology and psychology. In the latter part of his life he concentrated on religion, producing times on theology and philosophy which influenced succeeding generations.

Born in Stockholm in 1688, he died in London in 1772.

1937 SEES CHANGES IN MAP OF WORLD

Effect by Ballots, Edicts, Treaties and Armies.

Washington, D. C.—Outstanding changes registered during 1937 on the map of the world and in the relationships of nations, owing to ballots, edicts, treaties and force of arms, are outlined in a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"Rise of the first corporate type of state in the Western Hemisphere, by the edict of the president of Brazil; passing the large areas of China under control of the Japanese army; and the setting up of a new democratic form of government for India's 350 million inhabitants were the most far-reaching changes of the year," says the bulletin.

"In Spain the war between the insurgents and the government has continued through the year with a steady loss of ground by the government. Malaga in the southeast fell in April. In the northeast Bilbao fell in June. Santander in August, and Gijon (last of the government strongholds in the region) in October. As the end of year approached, the capital of Spain had been moved from Valencia to Barcelona, and headquarters of the insurgents, from Burgos to Salamanca. Considerably more than half of Spain was in the hands of the insurgents.

"Two kings were formally placed on their thrones during the year. In May, George VI was crowned and anointed as king of Great Britain and the Dominions, Emperor of India. In July, Farouk was invested as king of Egypt but was not crowned.

"Plans for the division of Palestine into a Jewish state and an Arab state, with Great Britain retaining direct control of Jerusalem and other strategic places, were brought forward during the year by a British commission, and even received the approval of the League of Nations mandates commission. But the announcement of the scheme caused such an outburst of criticism and rioting in Palestine that further steps have been delayed.

New Irish Constitution.

"A new constitution, adopted for Ireland by a general vote of the citizens, July 1, created the 'Republic of Eire,' headed by a president elected for seven years. The constitution is concerned only with internal affairs.

"Final agreement on the boundary between Colombia and Panama, parts of which had been in dispute for more than 30 years, was reached by an exchange of notes between the two countries early in December.

"A pact was signed December 10 in San Jose, Costa Rica, by representatives of Nicaragua and Honduras pledging the two countries to settle peacefully the boundary dispute which threatened earlier in the year to lead to hostilities.

"Two changes occurred in the membership of the League of Nations. Paraguay withdrew February 24, after having given two years notice of her intention to do so. Egypt was admitted May 28. Italy gave notice December 11 of intention to withdraw. Withdrawal becomes complete two years after filing notice.

"The new constitution for Brazil, proclaimed by presidential edict November 10 (and subject to plebiscite later) strengthens the central government at the expense of the states. The president is to serve six years.

"Under the new constitution in India, which went into effect April 1, the eleven provinces and more than 600 native states send delegates to a congress or parliament of two houses which legislates on federal matters for all India.

Hostilities in China.

"The hostilities which have led to the occupation of hundreds of thousands of square miles of Chinese territory by Japan and the loss of scores of thousands of Chinese lives, began near Peiping, July 7, when shots were exchanged by Chinese and Japanese soldiers. Shanghai, 600 miles to the south, was attacked by Japanese forces August 13. Fighting has continued of both fronts, although war has never been declared.

"In the north, Japanese armies have conquered all of the provinces of Chahar, Suiyuan, and Hopei, and large parts of Shanxi and Shanlung. Farther south they have taken possession of China's metropolis, Shanghai, and its capital, Nanjing, and a large area of the Yangtze valley between the two cities. As the year drew to a close Japanese forces were advancing farther up the Yangtze toward Hankow.

"On October 29, a new 'Inner Mongolian nation,' consisting of the former Chinese provinces of Suiyuan and Chahar, was set up under Japanese auspices. The new state is headed by Prince Teh, Mongol chieftain, under protection of the Japanese army.

"Organization of a 'provisional government of all China' was announced under Japanese auspices in Peiping December 14. Executive, legislative and judicial councils composed of Chinese members were set up and the former Chinese flag of five colored bars was raised.

'Dixie' Davis Is Captured, Was Shultz Lawyer

Philadelphia, Feb. 2 (AP)—J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, long sought by Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey as a leading heir to the "Dutch" Schultz's $100,000-a-year racket racket in New York city, was arrested here today.

A special squad of Pennsylvania state police and Dewey aides battered down a door of an apartment and seized Davis, who was personal attorney for Schultz, slain gang leader, in Schultz's many scrapes with the law.

Arrested with Davis, now disbarred, were George Weinberg, brother of the missing Schultz henchman, "Bo" Weinberg, and an actress named Hope Dare, held as a suspicious person. She wore a black wig.

Magistrate Nathan Belfel held Davis and Weinberg in $300,000 bail each on charges of being fugitives from indictments in the New York numbers racket smash-up drive.

Charles P. Grimes, Dewey's assistant who led the raid, described them as "the two highest remaining members of the Dutch Schultz mob who carried on Schultz's activities after his demise."

Miss Dare who Grimes described as "a friend of Davis' for a long time" was held in $25,000 bail as a suspicious person for further hearing with the others next Wednesday.

Indictments for Davis, Weinberg, and ten others were obtained last July 14 by Dewey, now New York county district attorney, when he was special racket prosecutor.

Davis, described by Dewey's staff as the "legal brains" of the Schultz mob, had grown a moustache since his indictment. Dewey has described Davis as a man from a modest upstate New York hamlet who rose to wealth and power within the realm of crime. He kept expensive apartments, boasted an expensive wardrobe, and engaged an entire floor in downtown skyscraper as offices, and was a well-known figure in "safe society."

Within ten years of practice, Dewey said, Davis had established powerful political connections. It was only after creation of Dewey's racket-destroying bureau that successors to Schultz and rival lords of vice and rackets lost confidence in immunity. Even "easy money" began to come hard.

According to her story the man under arrest and another man had driven out to the hotel where they had dinner. She said she rode with the men to see that they got safe to Kingston.

The other man in the car was let out of the car shortly before the fracas on Main street, and no longer figured in the story.

According to the police officers the man under arrest had proved one of the most unruly prisoners they had ever come in contact with. They said that he not only used his fists in an effort to resist arrest but also his feet.

Indian's Conception of the Twenty-Third Psalm

The Indian's conception of the Twenty-third Psalm, given by an authority in the Indianapolis News follows: "The Great Father above is a Shepherd Chief. I am His and with Him I want not. He throws out to me a rope, and the name of the rope is love, and He draws me, and He draws me, and He draws me to where the grass is green and the water not dangerous and I eat, and lie down satisfied. Sometimes my heart is very weak and fails me, but He lifts it up again and draws me into a good road. His name is Wonderful. Some time, it may be very soon, it may be longer, it may be a long, long time. He will draw me into a place between mountains. It is dark there, but I'll draw back not. I'll be afraid not, for it is there between these mountains that the Shepherd Chief will meet me, and the hunger I have felt in my heart all through this life will be satisfied. Sometimes He makes the love rope into a whip, but afterward He gives me a staff to lean on. He spreads a table before me with all kinds of food. He puts His hand upon my head and all the tired is gone. My cup He fills till it runs over. What I tell you is true. I lie not. These roads that are away ahead will stay with me all through this life, and afterward I will go to live in the Big Teepee and sit down with the Shepherd Chief forever."

DON'T BULLY CONSTIPATION

If you suffer from common constipation, due to lack of bulk in the diet, harsh cathartics don't get at the cause of your trouble. You can avoid this kind of constipation by eating Kellogg's All-Bran. This tasty cereal not only contains the intestinal tonic vitamin B, but also provides the bulk you need. It absorbs moisture... softens like a sponge into a water-soaked mass that encourages and aids natural elimination.

Use Kellogg's All-Bran in muffins. Or as a breakfast cereal. But eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg at Battle Creek.

OFFICE CAT
By Junius

The groundhog cannot always be depended upon but perhaps it is safe to put as much confidence in him as in any other weather prophet.

The Groundhog

The groundhog is a curious beast, that tells the weather true. He predicts the winter's cold, on February two.

His shadow, or its absence, tells the length and strength of freezing spell.

He hibernates within his den, for many weary days.

Then rambles from his burrow forth to meet the sun's bright rays.

A sunny sky with shadows deep. Means six more weeks of rest and sleep.

But cloudy skies, with clouds and rain, occasion no regret.

For when the groundhog's shadow falls, it means, now don't forget.

It means that winter's cold will go.

And hilly will lose their grist of snow.

Some folk may doubt the groundhog's power to make the winter break.

While others say this shadow stuff is just another fake.

'Tis best to play the waiting game, and watch him closely, just the same.—Harry Brokaw.

Life on the farm appears to be different now than it used to be. Our next item reflects the situation properly:

Comes a story about a man coming out in the country the other day to buy milk. He saw a pasture with a large herd of dairy cattle in it and went to the farm house nearby.

Man—Do you have any milk to sell?

Woman—No. We don't even have milk for our own use.

Man—What! All those cows out there and no milk?

Woman—No. You see, our dog did it.

Man—What's the dog got to do with it?

Woman—Well, since he died there's been nobody to bring the cows up.

Read It or Not

The Groundhog Day myth is no test of the infallibility of the animal instinct. If it serves as a test at all it is as a test of human gullibility and superstition.

If you can hold yourself down so you won't raise your voice with excitement and enthusiasm to speak softly you may say anything you desire and get away with it. Believe it or not, it is the tone and unrestrained passion in your voice, rather than what you say that causes the most anger and resentment.

Almost every day we meet the poor prune who says: "I never forget a face, but I have the greatest difficulty in remembering names."

Eliza and Emie are twins. Mammy is putting them to bed after bathing them and Emie is laughing and cannot be stopped.

Mammy—What, you-all laughing at Emie?

Emie—You, Mammy.

Mammy—At Mammy? Why?

Emie—Wah, he-he-he, you-all done washed Emie twice.

EYEGLASS SPRINGS STRONGER THAN AUTO'S

By Howard W. Blakeslee

Science Editor

Southbridge, Mass.—New springs for eyeglasses outdo the riding strength of automobile springs.

These eyeglass cushions have recently been perfected by the research department of the American Optical Company here. They are made of a stainless steel which is stronger than the auto spring metals.

Chaped like auto springs, they have three elliptical leaves, one above the other. The longest is no more than a quarter of an inch. They are each seven thousandths of an inch thick.

They form an arch which is set lengthwise on the edge of a rimless eyeglass. When the "strap," or clasp, is fastened to the glass, it presses the spring against the edge.

Rimless spectacles and eyeglasses lose their rigidity and bend freely without breaking the glass. The first springs for eyeglasses were made in 1900 and experiments continued until 1931.

Then a single leaf elliptical spring was developed. But it sometimes failed to stand the fierce strain in the continuous, slight movements of glasses. A double leaf spring came next and finally the high strength steel.

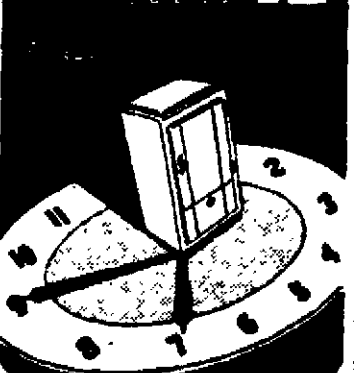

Variety

Folk, Neb.—Polk residents figure they had a week of changeable weather:

First they had a severe dust storm. Then a light rain fell. Next came a soft, feathery snow. More rain followed. An unusually warm day melted the snow. Then a howling wind moved in and sent temperatures below zero.

A statesman may get into trouble by "thinking out loud," and so may an editor; but think of the pleasure it gives their critics.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Barring an extra's complete oblivion, the greatest anonymity in Hollywood is enjoyed by the girl who plays "second leads."

She can be well-known indeed, she can be beautiful and a fine actress, she can be as agreeable and pleasant and surprising as ice water at a cocktail bar, but in the Hollywood spotlight she just isn't.

Why this should be isn't clear, unless you fall back on the obvious, which isn't necessarily true. As a second lead, she's always eclipsed by the greater glitter of the star.

Some of us were ruminating on this circumstance the other day, and the name of Margaret Lindsay arose as the perfect example.

Say "Margaret Lindsay" in any gathering of movie reporters and they'll all think—"Oh, yes, the girl who got into pictures by pretending she was British."

Same Old Story

That's been the "angle" on Margaret for five years now—ever since she fooled her way into the all-English cast of "Cavalcade." For about two years the publicity men at Warner's have been doing their best to change that angle—you can't blame Margaret for wearing of it—but they've had no luck. Often, they themselves give up and start their stories with: "When Margaret Kies of Dubuque, Iowa, was unable to crash pictures as an American," etc.

Margaret Objected

Among her workers she is rated very easy to get along with, an excellent actress, a sincere and hard-working performer, intelligent and sympathetic. About the only occasion on which her nice disposition was ruffled arose because of a publicity man's desire to depart from the she-said-she-was-English angle. The young man, going into communion with himself, produced a little squig to the effect that Miss Lindsay, when troubled with a sore throat, always found prompt relief in gargling hot beer!

This item found its way to print, and in due course to Miss Lindsay's eyes. She lost no time in nailing the canard, which ranks for truth along with Paul Muni's beard room, many of Errol Flynn's wild adventures, and Humphrey Bogart's habit of wearing his shoes on the wrong foot in order to achieve realistic expressions of pain.

AND TALKS ON MATTERS MASCULINE

The birds have to go South under their own power, but we can choose between train, car, boat or plane. Going by boat is a lot of fun and a vacation in itself. We have suggested in the week's columns a few items of apparel that will be useful on the ship and will come in handy after you get down to your Southern destination.

Sports shirts are most practical for resort and deck wear. The upper shirt of this pair is of natural linen and buttons all the way down in front, while the lower one is a boat-neck model of horizontal striped flile.

An excellent robe for travel or resort wear is this boldly patterned two-weight cashmere.

This camel's hair polo coat is one of the most practical types of coats for shipboard wear. In addition, it will come in handy on cold evenings in the Southland, and can be worn over your dinner clothes. At sea it can be worn with a cap of Harris Tweed, a checkered shirt, and a complete ensemble.

Tennis enthusiasts long ago introduced shorts, and today they are a regular part of a cruise and resort wardrobe. Shown here is a pair cut on approved lines and made of fine quality white flannel.

flannel model. It has self-faced shawl-shaped and a broad sash.

Esquire's eti-quary

Clothes of good quality are, of course, essential if you want to make a smart appearance, but they have to be taken care of properly and the employment of various little tricks will add much to their appearance.

For example, a shirtfront will lie much more smoothly and a collar sit in position much more firmly if a rubber band is fastened on one of the bottom shirt buttons with the other end attached to the top trousers button. This simple device will add immeasurably to your appearance.

Coat sleeves should be pressed round. Don't let your tailor put a crease in them as it gives a stiff and unnatural appearance to the sleeve. The sleeve should taper to the cuff and, on town suits, carry four buttons. Three buttons are correct on country suits and, if the buttons are made to actually button, it is possible to roll back your cuffs when washing your hands or doing other things where your cuffs are in the way.

Trousers should always break slightly over the instep. If you are traversing muddy ground in the country, it is permissible to turn up the cuffs of your trousers in order to save them from becoming soiled. Trousers should carry two pleats on either side of the center of the waistband, and the pleats should face inward. The two innermost pleats should go into the crease of the trouser in an unbroken line.

The bottom button of the waistcoat should be left unbuttoned—in fact, practically all waistcoats today are cut

so that the bottom should not be closed.

Hats are generally worn tilted slightly to the right and are worn well back on the head. Bowler hats are worn without any tilt and should sit squarely on the head. Neckties should be tied firmly so that the knot remains in position and does not come away from the collar. Breast pocket handkerchiefs should be put into the pocket casually and not firmly folded into any set position.

When carrying a walking stick or an umbrella, don't let your elbow swing out far from the side and either grasp and swing the stick over your crooked arm. Suits should always be carefully pressed, shoes shined, hats brushed, linen fresh and ties crisp. Dirt is never fashionable and don't be misled by those who believe a dirty pair of pigskin gloves is preferable to a clean pair. Clothes need not be brand new, but they should always be immaculate.

A lightweight blue flannel double-breasted suit will be just the thing on the ship, and once you get in warmer waters you will be able to wear the brown and white shoes shown on the above figure.

A pair of gray flannel slacks are very useful for ship-board wear and essential at the resort you are visiting. The same type slacks having a horizontal chalk stripe will provide a refreshing change.

'Brother Charlie' Ponders Comeback

By E. E. MAKIESKY

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—Charlie Bryan doesn't say yes and he doesn't say no, but the brother of the "Great Commoner" may be in the running again for governor in 1938.

He retired as mayor of Lincoln last spring, hinted he was just about through with politics, the last of the Bryans to leave politics after approximately 50 years of representation by one member or another of the famous family.

Giving Up Farming

Now Charles W. Bryan, recalling he said on his retirement from the mayor's office he had "one good fight" left, thinks the occasion may be at hand to get that fight out of his system. He's campaigning to enact his "tax equalization plan."

To carry out the proposal, he says he has pledged his active support to place a state of independent candidates for state office in the field "if it is necessary."

He wouldn't say whether he'd be a candidate himself, but pointed out "I never have promised or pledged I will not again be a candidate."

"Brother Charlie," as he was dubbed when he teamed with the distinguished William Jennings Bryan in the latter's political battles, is so enthusiastic about his tax plan he has announced he is giving up operation of his three large farms to devote more time to "special legislation in which I am interested."

Petitions Sought

Program of the man who was three times governor includes exemption of home owners from taxation on property valued up to $5,000 and enactment of provisions calling for a state income tax directed at persons investing their money in stocks and bonds; a tax on present tax-exempt securities; a sales tax on luxuries; a tax on the salaries of governmental employees; a reduction in state government costs which he claims are 30 to 40 per cent too high.

The homestead tax exemption proposal will be placed on the ballot as a constitutional amendment if sufficient petitions are obtained.

Will Case Taken Up in Court Today

Before Surrogate George F. Kaufman and a jury this morning the Mary Jane Kelder will contest matter was taken up. Jurors summoned for the January trial term of county court were called back this morning to serve as a surrogate's jury.

The morning session was taken up in the selection of a jury.

Andrew J. Cook appears with Francis T. Murray of counsel for Mrs. Margaret Scheffel and Gerard Kelder, daughter and son of John H. Kelder. N. LeVan Haver appears for Dr. F. B. Seely, executor under the will. Chris J. Flanagan appears for John H. Kelder one of the contestants, and Robert H. Boyle for Washington Kelder, another contestant. George V. Mahar and Thomas Mahar appear for Henry Kelder, a nephew of deceased.

The contest is brought upon the theory that Mary Jane Kelder, late of Kingston, was not competent to make the will which was drawn in 1935 or a codicil which was dated June 30, 1937. Objection to the probate of the will is also made on the grounds of undue influence and fraud.

During a recess Judge Kaufman and counsel in the case met and drew up issue of facts to be submitted to the jury. The issue of facts to be submitted are whether decedent was competent to make a will in 1935 and whether there was fraud or undue influence exercised at that time. The same questions of fact are to be submitted relative to the codicil which was dated June 30, 1937.

NLRB Probe "Imperative"

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—Senator Burke (D-Neb) asserted today that a Supreme Court decision this week in a National Labor Relations Board case made an investigation of the board's activities "more imperative" than ever. "The court held that Federal District Courts have no right to prevent board hearings by injunctions."

Child Guidance

Reprimanding Donald Won't Work Out Unless Mother And Dad Pull Together

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
AP Feature Service Writer
Boston.—Donald's father is stern; so stern that when he scolds, Donald shakes in his boots. Often at such times Donald runs to his mother for comfort.

Mother caresses Donald and says: "There, there, dear, don't cry. Daddy didn't mean it."

Daddy, overhearing, grinds his teeth because he jolly well did mean it.

Although Donald is only three, this sort of situation makes him realize soon enough that his mother always will sympathize with him, even though he has done wrong.

Bad For Parents, Too

And that's bad, says Dr. Douglas A. Thom, in charge of the Habit Clinic for Child Guidance, and director of the division of mental hygiene of Massachusetts. In an effort to compensate for the father's harshness, Donald's mother will be over-solicitous and over-sympathetic with her son. Dr. Thom predicts, in retaliation, he adds, Donald's father will be even more severe, because he can see that his wife never will make Donald toe the line. The child's raising problem is likely to drive the couple farther and farther apart.

Parents like Donald's are found too often, says Dr. Thom, who has interviewed countless couples perplexed over their children's behavior. The child is the buffer in their attempts to compensate for differences in their natures. He

Chinese Forces Rush to Plug Gap In Southern Region

Shanghai, Feb. 2 (AP)—Chinese reinforcements moved forward by the thousands under heavy shell-fire today to plug a widening gap in southern defenses of China's lifeline corridor.

The long-awaited major engagement on the Tsinpu battlefield north of Nanking apparently was beginning.

An estimated half million Chinese and Japanese troops have been massed for the struggle over the corridor, where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has urged his warriors to yield not a single inch.

Domei (Japanese news agency) correspondents with the Japanese column moving north from Nanking reported it had occupied Pengpu, southern keystone of Chinese positions along the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

The advance was made under heavy artillery and aerial bombardment after occupation of Fengyang, 15 miles east and south of Pengpu, the dispatches said.

On the Hwai river, Pengpu is only 99 miles south of Suchow, Lunghai railway junction point and heart of the corridor separating Japanese conquered areas of north central China.

Before the new advance, Japanese had captured the towns of Linhuakwan and Mingkwang on their northward march. Japanese pushing south through southern Shantung Province toward Suchow apparently were being held back.

Bridge Blown Up

Chinese were said to have blown up a bridge across the Hwai south of Pengpu and dug in on the river bank for determined resistance. They had kept the southern defenses of the corridor intact for a month.

The corridor, roughly paralleling the Lunghai and still 150 to 170 miles wide, has kept Japanese from uniting their gains into a domain of some 110,000,000 population under a government friendly to Japan.

From Chinese reports it appeared that both sides suffered heavy losses before Mingkwang fell into Japanese hands. The Chinese said their casualties there were 2,000 and asserted Japanese had suffered as many.

Both Chinese and Japanese sent word of new fighting in North China. Chinese said guerrilla detachments continued to attack isolated Japanese detachments in Hopeh province, where Peiping, Tientsin and the main railroads are in Japanese hands. One irregular band, Chinese said, killed 100 Japanese southeast of Pao-tingfu, Hopeh capital.

After a long period of inactivity, Japanese forces moving southward on the Peiping-Hankow railroad launched an attack in northern Honan province under cover of a heavy aerial bombardment. Chinese asserted the attack had been repulsed.

Coremo Ready for Bradley Lewis; Philly Hebrews Here Tonight

CC Slugger to Battle International Champ Here on Friday Night

STAR BOUT

in Go Excellently Supported Emersons, Severino, Forezzi and Caprotti on Bill at Municipal Auditorium.

That Bradley Lewis match at the municipal auditorium Friday night, is assumed, making the "reputation card" complete.

Late Tuesday night, Samuel J. Corrado, who has been a slugger since he signed Guy Coremo, Meville slugger, to swap punches with the international middleweight champion, who was a year because of his ability in the padded mittens.

"There's not a middleweight in New York city who can beat Lewis," said George Gairford, his trainer, when he assured Riber at the great colored star, and son of the famous John Henry, would be at the auditorium Friday.

Coremo, just home from Idaho where he cleaned up in the CCC tournament, is one of the highest boys in the Adirondack A. U. and a hard puncher. His most recent victory was over Frankie Baumgartner last week.

"In defeating Baumgartner, Coremo displayed plenty of fighting ability, and I think he'll make a whale of a battle with Bradley Lewis," said Ben M. Becker, chairman of the boxing division of the Adirondack A. U.

Lewis has defeated the best of them in the United States, Canada and Europe and is rated far superior to many of the 160 pound professional scrappers.

Popular for his two victories over Sergeant Perry, West Point fighter, Lewis is expected to draw in fans from far and near Friday night.

Supporting the Lewis-Coremo match on the card that is supposed to redeem boxing after last week's poor bill, wrecked by the team from Boys' High under Sid Elstein, who recommended, them highly but failed to make them put up any kind of fights, is a list of familiar scrappers.

On the card are the Caprotti brothers, the Emerson brothers, Pete Robinson, Monk Armstrong, Kingston boys, and Eddie Steele the Poughkeepsie Wildman, who never fails to give a lot of action. Mario Severino and Charlie Forzezi, upstate stars.

The complete card:

Bradley Lewis vs. Guy Coremo.
Charlie Forzezi vs. Richard Fraemer, international lightweight champion last year.
Mario Severino vs. Hoje Rivera, a return match.
Buddy Emerson vs. Jess Caprotti.
Frankie Emerson vs. Eddie Steele.
Monk Armstrong vs. Joe DiMaggio.
Jess Caprotti vs. Peter Robinson.

Kingston High Varsity Takes Poughkeepsie Over by 52-25

Kingston High School varsity really put on the power last night at the municipal auditorium over the Poughkeepsie basketball team. The Maroon hoopers rolled up this 52 score. Tommy Maines and Captain Charlie Bock led the onslaught with 17 and 15 points respectively.

With severe body checking during the first session both clubs were hampered somewhat in the scoring activities. However, the Kingston machine started to function after four minutes had expired and then, through the continuous sharpshooting of Maines, the locals forged far ahead. At the five minute mark Kingston led by 8 to 3. After Burns picked the net for a foul point, Maines and Arguelewicz came back with deuces followed by Seaman's drill from close in. The final duo of chuckers resulted from Maines' foul try. As the period closed the Klansmen were out in front by 12 to 5.

George Silverberg and Tommy Maines entered the second stanza with two fouls apiece against them and with this in Poughkeepsie's favor, Kingston dropped some of their bruising attacks. Whitsell and MacDonald broke through on set and lap-up shots to put the locals only five ahead. But Schultiss' two fouls and Maines' pivot flip placed them in the van again, 16 to 9. After Whitsell had added another lay-up, Charlie Bock finally pushed the ball through the netting on two consecutive attempts preceded by Silverberg's baby point. Seaman and Whitsell gathered in foul markers but these were offset by two set deuces on the part of Bock. The period finished with Kingston still leading 25-12.

Charlie Bock's pretty lay-up set off the fireworks in the third stanza, followed by another from Silverberg to make it 29 to 13. George Seaman drilled from a set point through the twine from a set point, through the twine later and then Beal added a foul point. Kingston hit the 33 mark when Maines romped down the sidecourt and tossed another sizzling deuce in along with Arguelewicz's two fouls. At this point West supplanted MacDonald and Bill Meagher went in for Jesse Schultiss who had gleaned four points. The final score of the period came with about five seconds to go when West looped the ball into the net from an overhead try. The score was Kingston 33, Poughkeepsie 18.

Kingston On Rampage

Following Beal's foul conversion Arguelewicz and Maines pushed down the floor with two spectacular set flips that really opened Kingston's dazzling attack on the Poughkeepsie hoop in this session. After two minutes had expired Ray Van Buren took over the left forward berth in place of Meagher. Van Buren poked his first deuce into the net after a scramble in which three or four players had tried to score. Foully Brower near midcourt at the four minute mark put George Silverberg out of the game on personals and Mike Dublin took over. Burns raved down the court after this substitution and pushed in a field but Bock and Maines came back fast with two more fields.

With the score 42-21 Dublin and Arguelewicz added foul markers and then Van Buren looped his second deuce into the net. Only two and a half minutes to go found Barbariz hooking the corner with a set shot raising his score to 23. But Charlie Bock's two successive fields and Maines' pair of foul additions hopped the local score to 52. The last score was tallied by Barbariz from set position.

In the preliminary, the Jayvees edged out St. Mary's quietest, 21-20. Goggy Grothkopp's deuce in the last 15 seconds deciding the issue.

Birdseye View

Of Sports Events

Pete Caprotti, lightweight prospect, gets his big chance Friday night against Buddy Emerson.

Emerson won in the Diamond Belt tournament at Albany and fought in the nationals at Boston.

The Emerson-Caprotti go should help pack the auditorium.

Buddy's brother, Frankie Emerson will tangle with Eddie Steele in the hopes of showing that he still can put it over on the Wildman from Poughkeepsie.

The same as four years ago when they were featherweights. . . . They both weighed 152 for last week's scraps at the auditorium.

These sluggers should give the fans something to talk about.

Monk Armstrong, the rangy 140 pounder says he's going to play hard and fast with Joe DiMaggio in their three-round preliminary.

Softball is making its appearance early. . . . Sid Lutzin's Jewish Youth Alliance and the 155th Field Artillery team will do a round on the diamond at the drill shed in the army, this week.

As Kingston's recreational department leader, Lutzin had plenty of softball going on last summer. . . . Tommy Zano, Kingston's professional waterfitter has not forgotten his amateur friends. . . . Zano and his trainer, Johnny Carpio, ex-lightweight star of the Hudson valley take the boys in classes at the Y. M. C. A. every night. . . . They are especially attracted by Pete Caprotti, Sammy Offerman's star.

No Trouble for Glenna Collect

Belleair, Fla., Feb. 2. (AP)—Glenna Collett Vane of Philadelphia, three-time winner of the National women's golf championship, found little trouble reaching the second round of her first tournament of the year—the annual Belleair event.

She advanced on a 7 and 5 victory over Mrs. E. J. Jones of Rye, N. Y. Medalist Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., who will meet Mrs. Vane in the finals if play goes according to form, defeated Mrs. F. B. Dangler of Cleveland, 6 and 4.

SNOW SPORTS

RICHARD O. GRUVER

Arnold Wilcz: Self-Portrait

Ten years ago, almost to the day, during a Woodstock residence, the writer was trudging up the snowy road to Overlook. When I left the village an key north wind moaned hoarsely through the valley. Near Mead's Mountain House it began to snow. A few minutes beyond the Inn, I was in the thick of it: the wind started to shriek in crescendo walls and the snow continued, driving hard at an angle like bullets shot down mountain.

Bent against the wind and snow, I tramped alone. Suddenly above the storm a shout rang, "ski hell! ski hell!" It seemed a demon flashed past me. There was a momentary glimpse, a fleeting greeting, a beautiful bend of body and skis curving with the mountain. Except for the wind screaming at the snow veil in the skinner's wake it was all over. . . .

A little incident of no importance? It seemed so then, but not now. For that gliding, wrath-like skier bounding alone, before the maddened gale, that figure wrestling speed from the very torment which raced behind was Arnold Wilcz, who was one of the greatest downhill skiers of them all.

I remember I turned and walked down the mountain so far in his wake his trail was obscured. When in my own time I tracked into the village, like an anubian snowman, an outlandish thing boys hooted at. I was very cold. And that seemed very important then.

Not now, though, for I have a very valuable picture: a self-portrait done by Arnold Wilcz. It shows him flashing around a curve, a vague image swathed in swirling snow. It's probably the only impressionistic thing he ever painted. . . .

Toboggan Championships

Woodstock will assume the color, gaiety and bustle of a true alpine capital on February 13 when the 1st annual toboggan championship races are run on the 2,600-foot Ohayo mountain slide. With the title will go another prize, the handsome Woodstock cup, now, incidentally, held by Woodstock.

With the exception of the 1932 winners will defend the trophy. Those men are Harold Shultiss, Willard Wollen and Donald Jackson. The champions will be the only Woodstock entry this year.

Invitations to participate in the race have been extended to winter sports groups at Rosendale, Phoenixia, Pine Hill, Fleischmanns, Big Indian and Bear Mountain. The Wittveck Club, of this city, has been invited, too, and probably will enter four men. Any recognized sports club may participate and entries should be made to President Kenneth Wilson at Woodstock on or before February 11.

The silver trophy is now on display in Winne's window, on Wall street. It must be won three times to become the permanent property of the winners.

If you want speed, you'll get it. The hill record is 19 seconds, which is something over 30 miles per hour. With a keen day and a fast slide the record can be broken. The course is being tended daily and carefully. For the present it is closed, but will be reopened when conditions permit.

Storm King vs. Woodstock

The Woodstock hockey team, which defeated Painesville 2-0 on Sunday will meet a strong team from Storm King, Preparatory School on the hockey arena Sunday afternoon at the base of Ohayo mountain, Woodstock.

Up Stamford Way

According to the Stamford Mirror-Recorder, villagers are becoming snow conscious. The Stamford Sports Club has been organized and plans are to build a ski run on Mt. Uxanthis. The club expects to function throughout the year, too, with baseball and other sports in season. . . . But on the snow slide, in addition to the proposed ski run, an adjoining terrain is being studied for ski trails.

New York Central Railroad officials that a snow train would be a good proposition. No comment at present, however, from either side. . . . The paper offers this lullaby to its readers: "Whether or not it will be possible to attract any great number of winter sports enthusiasts from a distance remains to be seen, but the club at least will provide various sports for Stamford residents. . . . Well, Stamford, don't be discouraged. Look at us. . . . It takes time to build a winter sports following. Spread your propaganda all summer among vacationists, and keep plugging."

Phoenixia's Ambition

Phoenixia desires a ski jump. They aim to build it alongside the Simpson Memorial Slope, perhaps this year. Jim Simpson says present plans are for a 90-meter affair. Probably that will be modified greatly, since the majority of the championship will be about 65 meters. However, maybe they know what jumps are better than outsiders. . . . Unless Phoenixia they're going to do better than outsiders. . . . Unless Phoenixia takes care, however, to build a jump not open to the world's gaze like the Simpson Memorial Slope is now, the revenue may be disappointing. . . . Expert ski jumping has its costs—construction, maintenance, expenses for invited jumpers, and many others. . . . The Phoenixia Ski Club will be the organization fostering the jump.

Will Enter Nationals

The German universities skiing team of Munich, which arrived in the United States on Friday, will participate in the national ski jumping championships at Brattleboro, Vt., on February 19-20. Other dates will take them to the Canadian Dominion championships February 26 at Ottawa, and the Western Canadian championships at Banff on March 5.

International Bobsledding

The International Bobsleigh Union has awarded the 1933 championships to Switzerland and Italy, postponing until 1942 the decision to hold the title matches in the United States. The two-man bobs championships will be decided at St. Moritz January 8 and 9, 1933, the four-man at Cortina.

British Against Their Teams Being at Tokyo Olympics

London, Feb. 2 (AP)—Sentiment in Great Britain against British representation at the Tokyo Olympic games in 1940 is national in scope, says Lord Aberdare, who will represent Great Britain at the meeting of the International Olympic Committee in Cairo in March.

Aberdare said a clear distinction should be made between the boycott of the Berlin Olympics in 1936 and the movement against Tokyo. He pointed out that the Berlin boycott was confined to a small faction while "resentment against Japan here is national, and judging from United States reports, international."

The British Olympic committee last night discussed the apparent failure of Japanese officials to issue invitations for the games and drafted instructions for Lord Aberdare.

Whether Great Britain will accept an invitation to the games also was discussed.

"I don't think we will be prepared to make a statement of our views before the international meeting is held," Aberdare said. "But I doubt if we will be able to get support to finance sending a team to Tokyo even if the committee decides to send one."

GIRLS WITH CHARMING MANNERS HAVE NO POPULARITY WORRIES

She Makes a Blunder, Offends Her Date

Nancy Joe has been living for this—her first date with Chuck. She's groomed to the tip of her curly eyelashes. But where—oh! where—is her etiquette?

Though Chuck is taking her to the movie, she's asking Ted to join them. "Still the high-school kid," thinks Chuck gloomily. "more used to a mob than a two-manner."

And here Chuck has the reason why many a girl who looks charming and sophisticated does not get around much. She doesn't realize she has to grow up in manner, too.

The boy who takes you out is your host. If you meet a friend you must talk to, introduce him to your date, chat a minute, and then be off. Of course if your date wants to make cordial overtures, that's another matter.

What courtesies do you owe your escort at a dance? The first and last dances are unalterably his. You have supper with him. On a dinner date should you

At The Theatres

REVIEWED

Broadway: "Daughter of Shanghai". Smugglers of human cargo have a desperate time of it in the main attraction at the midtown theatre and a Chinese man and woman struggle to quell the dirty business and are in constant danger of death throughout the picture's run. This Paramount offering is a wild and taut melodramatic tale of evil men in the illicit traffic of human slaves and Anna May Wong, Charles Dickford, Buster Crabbe and Philip Ahn are featured.

Kingston: "Buildup Drummond's Revenge" and "There Goes the Groom". The gentleman sleuth known as Buildup Drummond strikes at his enemies with fury and success in the best of the Kingston double feature and John Barrymore, Louise Campbell and John Howard are seen in the main roles. "There Goes the Groom" is a light romantic comedy number with Burgess Meredith and Ann Southern.

Orpheum: "New Faces of 1937". Old and new favorites of radio and screen vie for the honors of this production. A musical comedy attraction, it has numerous songs, many dances, much comedy and manages to hold its interest from start to finish.
